

VIRGINIA WOMEN GIVEN HIGH PRAISE BY EXPERT

Mrs. Wilson Says Housewives of This State Are Ever Alert for Best Recipes—Submits New Dishes Tried by Mrs. W. B. Mitchell, of Warsaw.

BY MRS. M. A. WILSON.
(Copyright, 1919, by Mrs. M. A. Wilson.)
The Virginia housewife is ever alert and anxious to try out new dishes, and as she is naturally a splendid cook, every one is most anxious to have her recipes. Mrs. W. B. Mitchell, of Warsaw, Va., sends this recipe for French beef stew, made from leftover roast beef.

French Beef Stew—Mrs. Mitchell's Recipe

Cut a sufficient amount of cold cooked beef to measure one and one-half cups. Place in a saucepan and add:
Four cups of cold water.
Two onions, chopped very fine.
Two cups of sliced carrots.
One small bunch of soup herbs.
One turnip, pared and cut in dice.
Two cups of finely shredded cabbage.
One teaspoon of celery seed.
Bring to a boil and cook very slowly for one and three-quarter hours. Then season with:
Two teaspoons of salt.
One teaspoon of paprika,
and season with fine bread crumbs. This ragout is truly delicious and well worth a try. It is most reasonable, Virginia gives us the

Huck and Breck Pickle

Select two medium-sized heads of cabbage and chop very fine. Chop fine also:
Fifteen green tomatoes.
Twelve ripe tomatoes.
Five medium-sized onions.
Eight green peppers.
Six red peppers.
Sprinkle with one pound of salt and let stand overnight in the morning drain well, and then place in a preserving kettle and add:
One pound of brown sugar.
One-half glass of grated horseradish (about four tablespoons of the fresh grated).
Three tablespoons of mustard.
One ounce of white mustard seed.
Two tablespoons of powdered mace.
Two tablespoons of powdered cloves.
One tablespoon of powdered allspice.
Two tablespoons of powdered cinnamon.
One and one-half tablespoons of black pepper.
Four tablespoons of celery seed, and sufficient vinegar to come within one inch of the top of the vegetables in the preserving kettle. Cook until the mixture is thick, stirring frequently. Pack in all-glass sterilized jars, and add the rubbers and lids and seal. Process for ten minutes in a hot-water bath.

Tyler Pudding

Line a deep pie tin with plain pastry and then spread on the bottom of the pastry one cup of sirupberry or peach preserve, and then pour over this a custard made as follows: Place in a bowl:
Yolk of one egg.
One whole egg.
Seven tablespoons of sugar.
Three-quarters cup of milk.
One-half teaspoon of mace.
Beat to a froth and then add the custard is firm in the center. Cool and pile a mound of jelly on top. One-half glass of apple jelly.
Beat until very stiff and it will hold its shape.

Cabbage Pudding

Chop one medium-sized head of cabbage fine and parboil until tender. Drain and place in a bowl and add:
Two onions, grated.
One cup of leftover cold meat, chopped fine.

Season well and then place a layer of the prepared cabbage in a baking dish and then a layer of bread crumbs. Pour two cups of thick cream sauce over all and place a thin layer of bread crumbs on top. Bake in a moderate oven for thirty minutes.

Sweet Potato Biscuit

Place in a mixing bowl:
Two cups of mashed sweet potatoes.
One teaspoon of salt.
Two level tablespoons of baking powder.
Two level tablespoons of shortening.
One large well-beaten egg.
Four tablespoons of milk.
Mix to a smooth, well-blended dough by kneading in the bowl for five minutes. Then roll lightly on a floured pastry board and roll out one-half inch thick. Cut and prick with a fork and brush with milk, and bake in a moderate oven for fifteen minutes.

Not to have tasted the sweet potato biscuit, you are missing a real treat.

Aunt Polly's One-Egg Cake

One egg.
Five tablespoons of shortening.
Cream well and then add:
Four and three-quarter cups of flour.
Four tablespoons baking powder.
One cup milk.
Beat to thoroughly mix. Add one cup of seeded raisins, pour in well-grated and floured loaf-shaped pan, and bake forty minutes in moderate oven.

Stewed Sweet Potatoes in Cream

Wash and cook until tender one quart of small sweet potatoes, and then place in a saucepan with four ounces of butter, chopped fine. Cook gently until the butter is brown, and then add six tablespoons of flour and stir well to mix. Now add two cups of rich milk. Bring to a boil and add the prepared sweet potatoes. Season to taste and let simmer very slowly for fifteen minutes. Turn into a large vegetable dish and sprinkle with finely chopped parsley.

Trifle

Place in a glass compute four slices of stale cake. Cut in pieces about the size of dominoes. Spread each piece with a jelly. Then place on top of each piece two raisins and some thinly sliced candied ginger. Now place in a saucepan:
One and one-quarter cups of milk.
Six level tablespoons of cornstarch.
Stir to dissolve and then bring to a boil. Cook five minutes and then remove from the fire and drop in quickly the yolk of one egg and one whole egg. Beat hard to thoroughly blend and then add:
One-half cup of sugar.
Juice of one-half lemon.
One-quarter teaspoon of lemon rind.
Beat to thoroughly mix and then let stand in the refrigerator. Cover with a meringue made of:
One-half glass of apple jelly.
Beat until very stiff and mixture will hold its shape. Decorate with tiny bits of candied ginger and serve cold. This delicious trifle is well worth trying. It can be prepared in individual glass sherbet cups or cocktail glasses. Again, Mrs. Mitchell, with some old-time Virginia recipes, especially those made from sweet potatoes.

THE SANDMAN STORY

THE GARDEN WEDDING.

They had lived in the same playroom for a long time—this little pair. He was a solid looking cloth boy filled with sawdust, while she was a dainty little paper-mache doll, who could be blown away by the wind, so frail was she.

And it was just because she could be blown away that the wedding came about one moonlight night in the garden.

The little girl who had been playing in the garden that day with her toys, carried some of them in the house at night and tucked them under her bed. But she forgot them and there they were when it became dark, out in the lower garden alone.

Teddy Bear was sitting close by the garden seat, on the ground, and so Doll being so solid, the wind did not bother him. But poor little Girl Doll was so frail and her dress so fluffly that the wind tossed her about and she lay on the ground until at last it threw her straight in the lap of Boy Doll, who sat there and laughed.

Boy Doll did not let her go. He put both arms around her and held her so tight that she could not move. He sounded he spoke to her and said: "I have wished for this moment," he said, "and now that I have you, let me be married to you very much in the moonlight among all the flowers. No other doll will ever have such a wedding as I am sure."

Of course Girl Doll knew this was quite true and she really did love Boy Doll. But she did not do all to let him think, though she had fallen in love with him, that she was glad to stay there.

"Oh! I could not think of such a thing," said the coquettish little creature.

New Picture "Dramatic Thunderbolt"

D. W. Griffith, producer of "Hearts of the World," "The Fall of Babylon," and other notable pictures, may depend upon to provide something worth while regardless of what particular environment he is in to secure his dramatic material. Hence the announcement that his latest production, "The Mother and the Law," has been termed a dramatic thunderbolt will not be surprising to those who are familiar with the Griffith methods of powerful stories and stirring climaxes. It will be seen at the Isis again today and tomorrow.

"Strictly Confidential" at Bijou.

If you married a noble young aristocrat and came to his home only to find that everyone of the twenty-three servants employed there were relatives of yours, what would you do? Would you absolutely stand forth and proclaim to you: husband and his aristocratic family your relationship with the servants? Or would you keep it strictly confidential? You bet you would. This is the situation that confronts Madge Kennedy in her latest and best Goldenway picture, "Strictly Confidential," now showing at the Bijou. The first awfully hard to keep it strictly confidential, but something happened. See this delightful comedy.

"Rough Riding Romance" at Colonial.

"Rough Riding Romance," a William Fox production, which opened Wednesday at the Colonial Theater, has found its hero, Tom Mix, at the top notch of stardom were he not already there. Mix shows himself a pastmaster of his craft, and is the only actor on record that can put the "real stuff" as to dare-devil stunts—a marvelous lot of them in this picture. The picture is a play in a way that makes him a hero of men and women both—intrepid, handsome, courageous. At the same time, aided by dainty, pretty Juanita Hansen, he handles a delightful love theme with the skill of a matinee idol.

"Fires of Faith" at Odeon.

When Director Edward Jose, while filming the great Paramount picture, "Fires of Faith," at the Lasky studio, secured the assistance of the local branch of the Salvation Army, he found that their presence enhanced the quality of the scenes immensely. In "Fires of Faith," which will be shown at the Odeon Theater today and tomorrow, there are several scenes in which the Salvation Army in the United States appears.

China Picture a Sensation.

Only two more days remain in which Richmonders will have an opportunity to see and hear Captain H. J. Lewis in his presentation of the highly interesting world-famous "China Town" pictures, taken along the subterranean passageways of the Golden Gate city and giving an inner glimpse of the life and customs of the inhabitants of the famous Barbary Coast. The pictures are unusually interesting.

At the Bluebird.

The variety program at the Bluebird today and tomorrow is made up of a new two-part Western drama, "The Jack of Hearts," by Lewis and Perrin and Josephine Hill; a Rainbow comedy, "Rough House on the Roof Garden," Hearst News and the ninth chapter of "Perils of Thunder Mountain."

AMUSEMENTS

"Come Along" Entertainers.

"Come Along," a J. Osborne Gleason production, played at the Academy of Music last night, opening a three days' engagement. Despite the rather unfavorable weather conditions, the audience was fairly large, and by its applause indicated general satisfaction with the production.

The book is the work of Bide Dudley, author of the New York World column, "The Book of the Week," and is full of bright lines and clever quips. The music, which John Law Nelson is of average merit, presenting a few lyrics and choruses of rather better than average quality. Of these "When You Are Happy," "Mother Dear," and the first act finale may be mentioned. "You can't believe them," introduced by Miss Mills and Mr. Page as a specialty, is a second act, was a particularly clever bit of comedy.

Reasonable allowance must be made for a company which is just upon its first week, this being its second act. There were slight hiccups and some rough edges, but the company of about twenty-two players embraces a nice little club of actors, giving an assured and for the most part agreeable performance.

Look at their second-act bathing suits intended to special hardship upon the audience.

Conspicuous in the cast were Margaret Corwin, with pleasing personality; Hedley Hall, good looking and gifted with a baritone voice of excellent quality, though he sang under some disadvantages, chiefly with a lack of enthusiasm which would add greatly to his effectiveness; Joseph Page, a clever boy with comedy possibilities; Ella Tavelato, as a French girl, vivacious and full of spirit, with an abundance of good looks; Charles H. McKinney, the fat man of the cast, who injected some good humor into the action; and Sam Broder, as Jeff, an American, who brought a suggestion of negro minstrelsy, an anomaly in musical comedy.

All in all, "Come Along" is a kind of mixture of musical comedy and burlesque, entertaining in quality and to judge from its reception last night, a fair evening's diversion.

ROUGH DRY way—less wear and tear on clothes and more economical and satisfactory than old-fashioned methods.

Try the T&E ROUGH DRY plan a few weeks and see for yourself how little bother and how much more satisfactory it is than doing the wash at home, or giving it out to a washwoman.

open the new bill with a singing act, and they are followed by the reappearance of a prime Richmond favorite, Chester Spencer, whose female partner, Hazel Hand, renders capable assistance in "Putting It Over." An excellent thing about the company is that of Hamlin and Mack in "The Two Records," and that wonderful Jap troupe, the Kinkos, is again in Richmond. The big bit of the new bill, however, is a talking and singing act featuring Frank Beck and Jack McIntyre, one white and one blackface comedian, in "The Black Ace."

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine."

How many millions of book lovers in the world have read the delightful story of "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" is problematical, but all who have read the book will want to see the play which Eugene Walter has written around Mr. Fox's romantic girl, June.

Mr. Walter's play transfers to the stage the atmosphere of the Virginia hills. The production is so artistically perfect that you are almost made to believe you are inhaling the fragrance of the mountainside. With Jane Ware in the role of June, the play comes to the Academy Monday night.

Opening of Sanitary Fish and Oyster Market

This store is something new for Richmond. We intend to conduct a Fish Market absolutely sanitary, conducted on the non-profit-making plan. By that we do not mean that we are philanthropists. We expect to make a fair profit on what we sell—if we did not we would be unable to stay in business; but we are not going to boost prices just because "everybody's doing it."

Reduce the High Cost of Living

The housewife today who doesn't "look around" to find where she can buy to best advantage, must have "money to burn." We extend an invitation to all who read this announcement to visit our store; note the special arrangements made to keep food products in a clean and sanitary condition, and to compare our prices with prices asked elsewhere. We can save you from 25% to 50% on Fish, Oysters, etc. This is no advertiser's boast; it is absolutely true.

Why You Are Assured of Low Prices And Fresh Goods

We do not deal with the middle man; we buy direct from the fishermen at the seashore. Our fish and oysters we get direct from the largest catchers along the Virginia Beach. Fish caught today you will find on sale at our store tomorrow. We handle the famous Mob Jack Oysters and the Lynnhaven Oysters, and we also open our oysters right at our store.

Our Location

You will note that our location is just off Sixth Street, the center of activities in food products. That means that our prices are the lowest. We are only a step from the corner of Sixth and E. Marshall Streets, but every step will save you money.

Come In And Get Acquainted

We might say much more about our plans of conducting business, but we believe we have said enough to convince you of our sincerity and our desire to serve you. All we ask is a trial to prove our statements.
